The crossings to be abolished are at Pier St., Fernbrook St., Dock St., Wells Ave., Ashburton Ave., Main St., Vark St. and Babcock Pl. The board further determined that the one-fourth share of the cost, which the state should pay, shall not exceed $138,000. The New York Central has stipulated that the city of Yonkers shall not pay more than this sum. The grade crossing appropriation of this year was $250,000. In addition to the Yonkers cases, a large number of other eliminations have been ordered, and the balance of the appropriation is being distributed throughout the state. In connection with the cost of eliminating grade crossings on that part of the New York Central running into New York City that is to be electrified, which, in many cases, necessitates a rearrangement of the roadbed, the Attorney-General has given an opinion that neither the state nor the locality shall be assessed more toward the expense of changing such grade crossing than if the line of the road had not been changed or the number of tracks increased.

An entirely new route has been surveyed and work of clearing the right-of-way is in progress. There is a heavy grade between the points and this is to be overcome by tunneling Shades Mountain. TUNNEL.—San Francisco, Cal.—The Western Pacific R. R. Co., on its line now being built between Salt Lake City, Utah, and San Francisco, about a year ago decided to have a $4,000,000 tunnel through the Geshute range in Eastern Nevada, near Flower Pass. The tunnel was to have been 12,085 ft. long. It has now decided to reduce the length of this tunnel to 6,500 ft. It is to cost $2,000,000 and will be completed within ten months. By its construction six miles of trackage will be cut off and grades reduced to .8 of 1% over the Geshute range. Virgil Bogue is Ch. Engr., San Francisco.

DREDGE.—Philadelphia, Pa.—The "North American" on Sept. 14 stated that "to enable the city to dredge its own docks and shoal places that may appear in the river channel, James M. Hazlett yesterday introduced an ordinance in Select Council to construct a dredge at a maximum cost of $225,000. The ordinance was referred to the Committee on Commerce and Navigation. By the terms of the Hazlett ordinance, the dredge itself must be of a hydraulic type. Its actual cost is estimated at $190,000, together with about $10,000 for shore apparatus. The balance necessary to bring the amount to $225,000 is for any emergencies or changes that might make the cost greater."

SUBWAY.—San Francisco, Cal.—Reed & Co., 44 Market St., have filed a communication with Board of Supervisors, reviewing their propositions of July 13 to construct a subway at the lower end of Market St., extending from the ferries to Third St. This firm, which had previously offered to accept city bonds in payment of the estimated cost of the proposed work, is now willing that such bonds should bear 4% interest, instead of 5%. The estimated amount of money needed for the work is $5,000,000. The communication will in due course be referred to the Public Utilities Committee. The original proposition was passed on by the Board of Public Works that it might be looked into and reported on by the City Engineer, who would have it under consideration.
